

Senior Consultant Mark Horswood

“Mark Horswood is articulate. His delivery of presentations was well received, as there are very little blind spots if any. He’s pleasant, jovial, and flexible. Mark behaves like a real ‘Yaad Man.’”
- Jamaican Tough Stuff Participant

In addition to dual Masters degrees in Applied Behavioral Science and Human Resource Development, Mark has 25+ years "on the floor experience" as an electrician/steelworker. After completing his graduate studies he continued work as an internal consultant prior to starting his own business and becoming an Associate. His unique background gives him an effective ability to foster collaboration between the workforce and management.
